COMPANIES TO WATCH 2026

CH

Companies to Watch in 2026 is a corporate business serialisation of BusinessNow.mt, Malta's fastest-growing, cutting-edge business news portal – a serialisation aimed at companies achieving their goals, marking important milestones, or planning to announce major business news.

Over the years, BusinessNow.mt has emerged as a clear leader in business news, with a strong following and extensive reach on socials, particularly on LinkedIn.

Companies to Watch in 2026 features companies that have an inspiring story to share and the right narrative that resonates with our business audience – could be an expansion plan, a planned acquisition or merger, an IPO in the pipeline, a rebranding, an anniversary, a new product line, an important c-level appointment, a succession plan, or market penetration overseas.

Each extensive feature will take the form of a business story, where the company will take centre stage and comments from the company's personnel will be used to beef up the story – but this time it will be the company that will steal the show!

CH

Each business story will be published in the BusinessNow.mt portal and will also form part of the Companies to Watch serialisation. Additionally, each story will feature in a prominent permanent section on BusinessNow.mt. All stories that form part of the Companies to Watch serialisation will also be published on the BusinessNow.mt socials, including LinkedIn and Facebook, and boosted!

Companies to Watch: B&B Construction on leveraging tech and efficiency to champion sustainability

Ing. Etienne Bartolo explains how B&B Construction is embracing the future based on scientifically-backed investment in sustainable practices

BY EDWARD BONELLO

Share

The construction industry gets quite the colourful reputation in Malta, and while a lot of it might be justified for a hundred and one reasons, there is a company that is focussing all its energy to improve its operation, become more sustainable and decrease its environmental impact. B&B Construction Ltd, is in fact putting its money where its mouth is, as it invests heavily in new, cleaner tech, and leading the way in an otherwise controversial landscape.

Ing. Etienne Bartolo, CEO at B&B Construction Ltd, discusses how his company is leading a silent revolution in the industry, as he advocates a better way of doing business, becoming a reference point for the entire sector.
